

STEVENS TO STAY WITH RAILROAD

Chesapeake and Ohio Officials Deny Report That He Will Shortly Retire.

CAPLES GENERAL MANAGER

Though Office Is "Vacated," Fourth Vice-President Will Attend to Duties.

Emphatic denial was given out at the Chesapeake and Ohio general offices yesterday of the rumor that President George W. Stevens was shortly to retire, and that the changes in the official staff announced on Friday were a step in that direction.

At the Chesapeake and Ohio office it was stated that the practical effect of the circular effective yesterday was to put the office of general manager and directing all departments hitherto reported to the general manager to report directly to the president.

Mr. J. Caples, who is named as vice-president in charge of traffic, makes Mr. Caples in effect the general manager of the road for the present at least.

Mr. W. G. Gries, who is named as fourth vice-president, effective from yesterday, Mr. Gries was also in attendance at the board meeting in New York.

Mr. Gries became assistant to the fourth vice-president effective from yesterday. Mr. Gries was also in attendance at the board meeting in New York.

DEMOCRATS SPENT OVER $620,000

Harman Ridder, Treasurer of National Committee in 1908, Testifies.

NO TAINTED MONEY IN FUND

List of Contributors Contained More Than 25,000 Names.

Washington, July 20.—Harman Ridder, treasurer of the Democratic National Committee in 1908, today produced for the inspection of the Senate committee investigating campaign contributions, official reports of the committee's receipts and expenditures he had filed with the Secretary of State of New York in 1908.

"I was the largest contributor," declared Mr. Ridder. "I gave $47,000. Mr. Bryan made a rule that no one should contribute more than $10,000, so $10,000 was subscribed in my name, and each of my sons gave $3,000."

"Did August Belmont contribute anything in 1908?" asked Chairman Clapp. "No, he did not," said Mr. Ridder.

"Mr. Belmont had told the committee recently that he contributed about $250,000 to the Democratic National Committee in 1904."

"Did Thomas F. Ryan contribute in 1908?" continued Senator Clapp. "No, he didn't."

"Might they have contributed to some one else?" "No one unless Mr. Sheehan, no, I am sure they did not through Mr. Sheehan because the amount he contributed was too small," said the witness.

Tammany Hall contributed $10,000. Mr. Ridder told the committee, and Robert Ewing, of New Orleans, collected $7,500, mostly in 5 and 10-cent pieces.

The witness recalled, with the aid of the official records that 25,000 names were enrolled on the list of contributors. He picked out the largest ones, putting into the record contributions by W. F. Sheehan of $10,000; John T. McGraw, $2,000; Edward M. Shepard, $1,000; H. H. Lehman, $1,000; D. E. Conroy, $1,000; Samuel Untermyer, $2,000; J. Sargent Cram, $1,000; Edward P. Goff, $1,000; Moran J. O'Brien, $1,000; Delaney Nicoll, $1,000; Nathan Straus, $1,250; John W. Cox, $2,000; David R. Francis, $1,000; and Norman E. Mack, $1,000.

Senator Clapp remarked that Mr. Ridder, every time he mentioned a contribution by a Tammany man, referred to him as a "good" man.

"Do you mean to cast reflections on the other contributors?" asked the Senator.

"No," replied Mr. Ridder, "but after Mr. Ridder's denunciation at Baltimore it seems necessary to explain the qualifications of Tammany men. I collected the money in 1908," he added, "and I am sure not a dollar of it was tainted."

Nothing From Corporations. No money was received from corporations for the campaign, Mr. Ridder assured the committee. "I had a distinct order from Mr. Bryan," he explained, "that no money was to be taken from corporations."

"Have you any reason to believe that subscriptions by them were covered up by being made under a person's name?" he was asked.

"None. The contributions were too small for that."

"Do you have any knowledge that money was given for campaign purposes through other agencies than the national committee?"

"No. Of course, money was given to State committees."

Mr. Ridder, before leaving the stand, testified that he had nothing to do officially with the presidential campaign of 1908, nor the congressional campaigns of 1909 or 1910, also under investigation.

SYSTEMIC CATARRH RELIEVED BY PERUNA.

My Husband Also Uses Peruna.

Mrs. Della May Samuel, whose picture accompanies this testimonial, and who resides at 358 N. Conde St., Tipton, Ind., writes the Peruna Co. as follows:

"Eight bottles of Peruna completely cured me of systemic catarrh of several years' standing, and if my husband feels badly or either of us catch cold we at once take Peruna."

Stomach Trouble. Mrs. Wilson Robinson, 704 N. Nesie St., Toledo, Ohio, writes:

"I feel like a new person. I have no more heavy feelings, no more pain, don't belch up gas, can eat most anything without it hurting me. I want to be working all the time. I have gained twenty-four pounds."

"People that see me now and saw me two months ago seem astonished. I tell them Peruna did it. I will say it is the only remedy for spring and all other ailments."

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Many persons are making inquiries for the old-time Peruna. To such would say, this formula is now put out under the name of KATARNO, manufactured by KATARNO Company, Columbus, Ohio. Write them and they will be pleased to send you a free booklet.

Nothing From Corporations. No money was received from corporations for the campaign, Mr. Ridder assured the committee.

Have you any reason to believe that subscriptions by them were covered up by being made under a person's name?

None. The contributions were too small for that.

Do you have any knowledge that money was given for campaign purposes through other agencies than the national committee?

ADVERTISING MEN FORM STATE CLUB

R. Winston Harvey, of Lynchburg, Elected President at Organization Meeting.

Five advertising clubs of the State organized at the Jefferson Hotel last night into a permanent association, and outlined plans for the more effective conduct of advertising business.

The cities represented were Richmond, Norfolk, Danville and Lynchburg. Roanoke, the other member, did not have a delegate, but was admitted.

Fifteen men were present from the cities entering into the alliance, and the election of officers resulted in the choice of the following: President, R. Winston Harvey, of Lynchburg; First Vice-President, J. K. Waterman, of Norfolk; Secretary, Norman H. Johnson, of Lynchburg; Treasurer, G. Edmond Maasie, of Richmond; and George W. F. Clarke, of Norfolk. A board of governors was also appointed.

H. F. Smith, of Richmond, opposed the immediate formation of the state association. He said that the Richmond Advertising Club was disbanded for the summer, and urged postponement of amalgamation until fall, when a more perfect union under more pretentious conditions would be possible.

He declared that Richmond give the organization a better send-off than was possible yesterday because of unpopularity. Temporary Chairman R. Winston Harvey opposed delay, and his motion calling for immediate organization was adopted.

Edwin Quarles, a member of the Advertising Club of Baltimore, where the international convention of advertising men will be held next year, made an interesting talk showing successful advertising is interwoven in the prosperity of a city. He said that the advertising club should limit its membership to those instrumental in the preparation, sale and purchase of advertising, and should not be patronized on a larger plan than this.

W. F. Clarke, the newly elected general counsel, spoke upon the necessity of the organization waging war against quack advertisers and charlatans, and mentioned several "confidence" schemes that should be prohibited by the next Legislature. Speeches were made also by the following: R. Winston Harvey, J. K. Waterman, H. B. Trundle and H. F. Smith.

The following delegates were present from the cities in the organization: Norfolk—A. W. Brown, W. F. Clarke, J. K. Waterman, Danville—H. B. Trundle and E. G. Smith, Lynchburg—R. W. Harvey, W. W. Walsh and N. H. Johnson, Richmond—H. F. Smith, J. T. W. Curtis, M. J. Moran, C. E. Ivey and W. Garrett Lee.

Will Hear Judgment Motion. A motion for judgment in the sum of $112.50, alleged to be due on contract will be heard tomorrow morning in the Hustings Court, Part II, before Judge Ernest H. News of South Richmond

South Richmond Bureau. The Times-Dispatch. 1020 Hull Street. Phone Madison 175. On a combination of charges brought by neighbors, Gilbert C. Cole, of Forest Hill, was yesterday fined $150 and put under a bond of $300 by Magistrate W. Jacob.

Cole, who moved to Forest Hill less than a week ago, went on a rampage last Wednesday, according to the evidence, and after beating his wife, attempted to burn his home by saturating paper with kerosene and setting fire to it in the middle of the room. He was also accused of entering a neighbor's house at 11 o'clock at night and attempting to choke two dogs to death.

Neighbors testified that they were afraid of the man if he was turned loose in the community. One woman left home for two days until he was placed under arrest. His wife refused to testify against Cole, who also kept his mouth shut and refused the aid of counsel.
